Civ 6 greece gorgo guide 2020 calendar printable 2020

Building a lot of Acropolises should generally mean a higher number of Great Musician Points, and hence Great Musicians, so you should get a little more out of this than many other cultural civs.Sports Media (Economic, requires Professional Sports) - Essentially the same thing as Aesthetics but with +1 amenity for Stadiums added on top.Information Era(Pericles) International Space Agency (Diplomatic, requires Globalisation) - If your culture output is much higher than your science output, this can help close the gap. The Hoplite units will make sure you have strong enough units to defend against any early era troops and the Acropolis if placed correctly, will generate enough culture points to see that you progress faster than any other civ. It can also have a big impact on Culture as it will generate additional Culture points when adjacent to a Wonder, another District or the City Center. Seeing as you only need to kill units and not take cities for culture, you can just fight defensive wars and use this card to prevent amenity penalties resulting from that.(Gorgo) Martial Law (Military, requires Totalitarianism) - Reduces war weariness, making it easier to pursue prolonged wars for culture.(Gorgo) Propaganda Military, requires Mass Media) - Also reduces war weariness.Atomic EraContainment (Diplomatic, requires Cold War) - Helps overturn city-states controlled by rival civs by making your envoys count double in city-states whose suzerain is of a different government to you.Heritage Tourism (Economic, requires Cultural Heritage) - Though useful for any cultural civ, this policy card is even better for Greece due to the high number of Acropolises you'll built allowing you to store more Great Works of Art and Artefacts.Satellite Broadcasts (Economic, requires Space Race) - Boosts Great Music tourism by 200%. These are not necessarily the best choices, but rather options you should consider more than usual if playing this civ relative to others.GovernmentsTier OneOligarchy is Gorgo's clear choice for government thanks to the substantial strength bonus on offer for Hoplites.Complement it with the Warlord's Throne for a production bonus in all your cities every time you capture one.Pericles can do well out of Oligarchy as well, but given his reduced emphasis on war, you'll often get more out of Classical Republic.As Pericles' ability will be more effective if you can get more envoys, and a key way of getting more envoys is to settle more cities and build more Acropolises, you'll probably want to build the Ancestral Hall Government Plaza building to help you train Settlers faster.Tier TwoGorgo's options are fairly open here, though Merchant Republic probably has the edge - having three wildcards at once makes it pretty versatile, and the gold and district-production bonuses will be consistently useful.Gorgo can benefit from any of the tier two Government Plaza buildings. Administration - Government and Policy Cards Note that the Administration sections strictly cover the options that have particularly good synergy with the civ's uniques. It meant that it degraded at a slower rate and recovered at a higher rate. Leader Ability - Thermopylae: Combat victories provide Culture equal to 50% of the Combat Strength of the defeated unit.Leader Agenda - With Your Shield Or On It: Never gives up items in a peace deal, and likes civilizations who match that approach. There are so many civilizations available to play in Civilization VI. It also requires a lot less research than Merchant Republic does, especially if you've been developing a religion.The Foreign Ministry provides Pericles with a good defensive option in war, but you may want to take the Intelligence Agency instead so you can run more Fabricate Scandal missions to reduce other civs' envoys.Tier ThreeIf you're playing as Gorgo and want to continue on the warpath, take Fascism for its powerful military bonuses.Complement it with the War Department so you'll get health as well as culture from kills.A culture victory-oriented Gorgo might want to take Communism as it still offers several military slots and good production bonuses, while Pericles might prefer Democracy's extra diplomatic and wildcard slots.Complement either of those governments with the National History Museum for a helpful boost to your Great Work capacity.Policy CardsAncient EraAgoge (Military, requires Craftsmanship) - Build Hoplites at a rapid pace, making them particularly cost-effective.Inspiration (Wildcard, requires Mysticism) - A +2 bonus to Great Scientist points which Greece can acquire earlier than anyone else.Limitanei (Military, requires Early Empire) - If you're entering an early Dark Age for the Twilight Valour bonus, you may need loyalty bonuses to counteract the extra loyalty pressure you'll receive - especially in captured cities.Revelation (Wildcard, requires Mysticism) - A +2 bonus to Great Prophet points which Greece also can pick up before anyone else.Classical EraCharismatic Leader (Diplomatic, requires Political Philosophy) - A great choice, especially for Pericles. Gorgo may then use this Culture to pursue civics which either allow her to continue making wars most efficiently or allow her to most quickly achieve her desired victory type. As you can progress through the tech trees quicker, you can gain more envoys, quickly create friendships with city-states which will increase culture points even quicker. Both of them have very different special abilities and preferred playstyles. Here's what you need to know!For everything you need to know about winning as other countries, check out these guides: America England Sumeria India Rome Districts Guide Map Overview Changes from Previous GamesLast time around, Civilization V, Greece had an ability called Hellenic League that evolved around city-state influence (how the population of a city-state feels about you or the civilization). Pillaging doesn't create warmonger penalties, so go ahead and do that!Pericles will want to use Monarchy for the 50% boost to Influence point gain, as it'll help you secure more envoys and hence more culture and hence more yields). Retains all the normal benefits of the Theatre Square, but also has the benefit of providing an additional +2 Culture if built adjacent to a city center: Things To Do First|Things Not To Do|Civilizations|Tips and Tricks Want to win with India? Finally, the Grand Master's Chapel gives you an alternative way to get more military units and/or faith. Unlike Pericles, however, Gorgo focuses on building Culture through victory in combat. Like Pericles's Greece, Gorgo leads a Culture-oriented civilization. The Intelligence Agency can help you defend your Great Works from being stolen, or help you steal more eureka boosts. Greece, as a civilization, lends itself best to a Cultural victory, but it is far from the only way Greece can win. One of those leaders is Gorgo, the Spartan Queen and wife of Leonidas I during the Persian Wars. The Acropolis must also be built on a hill.Greece Victory ConditionsIf you want to win as Greece, you need to make sure you get your Acropolis and Hoplite as early on as possible. Both share the same civilization characteristics, but each has different leader characteristics. The Hoplite is a melee unit which replaces the Spearmen unit. At launch, the game features a whopping 19 different civilizations to choose from, and each has strengths and weaknesses lending themselves to varying victory conditions. This gives city-states a bonus to culture but only you are the Suzerain of it.Gorgo's leader ability is called Thermopylae. With all the victory conditions viable for Greece, which ones have you played and won? It wasn't named but it meant that if Greek units end their turn within an unfriendly or hostile city-states borders, Greece would not lose any influence over them and it meant that they still healed as if they were in friendly territory.Now, in Civilization VI, the Greek civ have an ability called Plato's Republic which simply gives an additional wildcard social policy slot, no matter what the current government type it is.The last change from Civilization V to now is that Greece comes with two leaders.The Leaders of GreeceAt release, Greece gets two leaders in Civilization VI. From there, Gorgo may be inclined to seek war against her neighboring civilizations, whom she may find are the next best sources of Culture. They were also a bit sneaky and had a hidden ability. This will really help you secure more city-state suzerains.Diplomatic League (Diplomatic, requires Political Philosophy) - Good if you're still uncovering new city-states and want to get a good start on gaining envoys with them.(Gorgo) Praetorium (Diplomatic, requires Recorded History) - This bonus makes Governors provide more loyalty - particularly helpful if you entered an early Dark Age for Twilight Valour.Medieval EraAesthetics (Economic, requires Medieval Faires) - An Acropolis next to your capital now produces +4 culture, and that doesn't even take into account other adjacency bonuses.Merchant Confederation (Diplomatic, requires Medieval Faires) - Get quite a generous amount of gold out of all your envoys! Pericles might get more gold out of this, but Gorgo will probably find the gold more useful.Industrial EraGrand Opera (Economic, requires Opera and Ballet) - Your high Acropolis adjacency bonuses will make it easier to get the full culture boost from this policy card.Modern EraGunboat Diplomacy (Diplomatic, requires Totalitarianism) - Like Charismatic Leader, but double the effectiveness.(Gorgo) Defence of the Motherland (Military, requires Class Struggle) - Prevents war weariness in home territory. Gorgo should seek to build units early into the game, allowing her to conquer the barbarians, an easy source of Culture and Gold. The Foreign Ministry offers a cheap way to get hold of military units you can risk while killing others for culture. Each Hoplite unit will gain an additional bonus if there is unit Hoplite unit adjacent to it.The Acropolis is Greece's unique district, replacing the Theatre Square, and it provides a bonus to Great Person points (Musician, Writer, and Artist). Must be built on a hill. Pericles celebrated General and responsible for uniting the independent states of Greece, and Queen Gorgo, wife of the legendary King Leonidas I.Pericles brings a unique ability to the game is called Surrounded by Glory. Hoplites receive +10 combat strength when adjacent to at least one other Hoplite.Unique District - Acropolis: The Greek replacement for the Theatre Square. This ability gives a bonus to culture points gained when an enemy is defeated.Unique Greek Districts / UnitsBoth leaders receive the same unique buildings and unit. Greece was the only civilization at launch to have two different playable leaders. We'd love to hear how you did it! Greece is one of the original 19 civilizations available in Civilization VI. Dislikes civilizations who have capitulated or who have never gone to war.Unique Ability - Plato's Republic: Receive an extra wildcard policy slot no matter which government is chosen.Unique Unit - Hoplite: A unique Ancient Era replacement for the Spearman. You are sure to do well with whatever victory condition you strive for.As you can see, Greece is very versatile with regards to how you want to play. Greece can use its greater cultural output to invest in civics it can use on its way towards other victories.
